Veterans Affairs:

KJLH is partnering with Metro’s Veterans division to host an array of community partners dedicated to serve the veterans in our communities. This will one stop show of resources provided by VA approved vendors, the Red Cross organization who will be on-site taking blood pressure, and donations, employment vendors, and other Health and Wellness organizations not affiliated with the VA.

Millennials in the Church:

Dynamic ministers from Southern California will speak on what Millennials are looking for in a church home. Are churches keeping up with the times...are they touching on important topics that this generation is looking for? What are young men looking for in today’s church?
How to survive in South Central:

Representatives from several law firms (including the Cochran firm), and top brass from local law enforcement agencies, will be on hand to discuss issues effecting our communities. This will be a great dialog between professionals who want to interact with the community, and a great opportunity to join the conversation.

Mentorship:

KJLH is proud to partner with several mentor organizations, including the CSUDH Male Success Alliance program (MSA). In collaboration with 18 local middle schools and high schools, MSA aims to improve educational outcomes for young men of color through programs and services that include academics enrichment, character development, mentoring, college access and success programs. We can also tie fraternity auxiliary organizations, churches, etc.
